MAKING A DIFFERENCE

Each month the Journal of Psychosocial Nursing and Mental Health Services (JPN) publishes artwork from the National Alliance for Research on Schizophrenia and Depression (NARSAD) Artworks in La Habra, California, which showcases art by talented artists who share or have shared the common bond of mental illness. The letter below is from one artist whose work recently appeared in JPN.

To the Editor:

Thank you for creating opportunities for people with mental illness to experience the joy of publication on a professional level. It is refreshing to have such a nice group of people to work with! I struggle daily with the fact that other people may not take my craft seriously, and being published in the Journal gives me a sense of value, pride, and respect!
