

Untitled by Deena Sackman

Deena Sackman lives in Seattle and has dealt with depression throughout many years. She began watercolor painting at age 58 with Path with Art, an organization that transforms lives by combining powers of creative engagement and community connection. Now in her 70s, she takes watercolor classes through the Seattle Parks and Recreation Lifelong program for older adults.

doi:10.3928/02793695-20190822-01