

Untitled by Thomas Trepper

Tom Trepper's entire living room is converted into an art studio. There he creates the pen and ink illustrations that reflect his passion for the wilderness surrounding his Pacific Northwest home. Using bold colors and crisp lines, he produces mountain, coastal, and invented landscapes, as well as caricatured still lifes. The mood or setting of his pictures is light, but very descriptive. Tom believes that his work is unique, and he copies no one. His calendars have sold very well for the past 4 years, and he has an audience across America.
